PittGreensburg

Founded in 1963, the University of Pittsburgh at Greensburg is a publicly assisted, four-year, liberal arts college in southwestern Pennsylvania. Pitt-Greensburg offers 29 baccalaureate degree programs, including new majors in Nursing, Healthcare Management, Public Policy, Education, and Spanish, as well as 19 minors, and numerous pre-professional options. On a percentage basis, Pitt-Greensburg has more winners of the prestigious Chancellor's Distinguished Teaching Award than any other school or campus of the University of Pittsburgh.
